PAVE'COLLECTION

The Pavè collection by Kreoo, designed by Enzo Berti, is inspired by the effect of natural river water gliding over the stones of the river bed: water flows, smoothes and polishes, forming nature's great artwork.

In fact, the name Pavè derives from French language and it is used to speak about the small stones used for a particular type of flooring, which is distinguished for its harmony, durability and charm.

In Pavè system the volumes evoke the shapes of river pebbles, exploring the expressive potential of natural elements such as marble, wood and cork in their most natural meaning, both from the aesthetic than functional point of view.

Materials and colours are spontaneous, the surfaces of natural stones play with the contrast between marble solidity and wood and cork formal lightness.

The collection is composed by Pavè Stone seats, realized through the overlap of an oval marble base and a wood or cork seat, with its two variants Stream & River, by the bench Pavè Log, a unique wooden board that overlap the original marble bases, and by the Pavè Drink table, characterized by free combinations of the classic marble base with a metal stem that is the support for the round wooden top

The compositional possibilities are endless, and they are all usable both indoors and outdoors, thanks to the differentiation of the proposed materials.

Pavé Collection: single or multiple convivial islands immediately empathic, design objects that recalls the nature indoors, and merge with it outdoors
